

Standex Technical Training. Your Key to Quality.

The Art of Refinishing.

International expertise to boost your business.

Around the globe 42 Standox Information and Training Centers offer a comprehensive range of training programmes to help you work even more successfully.

Standex Technical Training means professional training at the highest level – throughout the world.

From Wuppertal to São Paulo, Standox operates over 40 Information Centers, which are equipped to the highest standards in accordance with applicable local laws. A “Train-the-Trainer” programme that has proven its worth over several decades ensures all Standox instructors and service technicians always stay abreast of the latest technical developments.

Standex Technical Training shows you how to get the maximum out of your Standox products.

Effective and efficient Technical Training.

The vehicle repair market is subject to constant change. New materials, advanced technologies, rising demands made by insurers and legal requirements are the day-to-day challenges facing bodyshops around the world.

Competent training is a must for anyone who wants to respond to the fast changing requirements of the market. The practical courses held at Standox Information Centers show you how to master the challenges of the future successfully.

These courses not only allow refinishers to perfect their knowledge and skills but also offer them a chance to test – under expert guidance – application techniques they would not normally experience in their day-to-day work. This increases staff productivity and opens up horizons for new business opportunities.

Courses range from the application of eco-friendly ProFuture products to coloristics, MicroRepair and to forward looking technologies such as UV cured materials.

Standex Technical Training – designed by professionals for professionals.

Forget about dry lectures and endless presentations. Standox Technical Training takes a truly practical approach which recognises that training is only successful if participants enjoy what they learn – instead of being bored by it.

Standex instructors are the basis for successful training. For over 20 years, Standox's "Train-the-Trainer" programme has ensured that all instructors throughout the world share the same high knowledge level. An annual programme of internal quality audits and inspections of the Training Centers guarantee that this level stays high.

The exemplary equipment of the Training Centres satisfies even the highest demands. It includes the latest refinishing, sanding and polishing equipment from leading manufacturers, as well as state-of-the-art drying systems.

On-site Training

Whenever it is not possible to train refinishers at a Standox Information Center, Standox Technical Training staff will work with you to organise customised training courses at your bodyshop.

General Training Courses.

Depending on local requirements, Standox Information Centers offer different training courses and seminars covering different disciplines.

Using Standox Refinishing Systems Properly

Tips and tricks on the economical use of Standox preparation materials and topcoats for cars and commercial vehicles. Standox Information Centers offer everything from information on general application to MicroRepairs and special design techniques.

Coloristic Seminars

The Coloristic Seminars help staff quickly and correctly match and mix colours and variants. Accurate colour matching is the heart of any repair, and a major advantage in building good customer relations.

Special Seminars

Special education and training concepts for franchised bodyshop networks, geared to approved products and specific manufacturer requirements.

Surely Good for Your Health.

Safety and personal protection play an important role at Standex Training Centers.

We take your health seriously. This is why Standex attaches great importance to appropriate Health and Safety for all seminar participants.

If you want to learn more about protecting yourself or your staff at work, ask for a copy of the Standex guide "Helpful tips for your health and safety".

The Standothek series also comprises numerous publications that to help you in your day-to-day work.

Standex GmbH · Postfach · D-42271 Wuppertal · Germany